

(Photo: Roadside Dog Rose, the Alps)

Of Flowers and Poems

Flowers are to the background green of meadow and forest what a poem is to the constant chatter of sounds which surrounds us. How strikingly beautiful they are, these centers where essences converge.