

Some things become more beautiful
when broken;

others, less—