

Humans are the only beings in Nature who are constantly preoccupied with what they are not.