

More with Less (Or Best Offer . . .)

Control is the way of less and less harmony
with more and more effort;

Limit is the way of more—more harmony, more order,
and more creativity, with less and less effort.

Control tells you what to do;
Control is the way of mechanical intellect,
like a computer program;

Limit says simply what not to do.
Limit is the way of intelligence,
like free-flowing water.

Think of this: The rules of the road are few and apply to all.
Keep on your side and stop there. Everything else is free and open. You can drive in the morning; or in the middle of the night, in a red car, or a black one. Or if you wish:—
you can simply stop and be rid of your burden right
on the spot
