

(Image: Contemporary Piano-inner workings . . .)

The central goal of musical performance is not just the perfection of the work, but rather the awakening of intelligence and perfection of the performer as a human being.