

(Image: Pattern emerging out of movement, —differential icemelt with strong left-to-right south wind)

Thought the Trickster

Observe:—How easily intellectual commentaries
become the camouflage for inner barrenness;

And how easily the aesthetic rationales of prim,
outward, mechanical forms become a cover
for the lack of meaning;

Observe:—how quickly thought tricks the mind,
and we mistake the poverty of arbitrary order for the richness of organic flow.